Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 09 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
A wet night for most as rain slowly progresses eastwards.

This Evening and Tonight:
Staying cloudy, with rain approaching from the west, reaching eastern areas of Devon by midnight. Occasionally falling heavy, mainly across Cornwall and Devon, as it slowly tracks eastwards. Turning lighter as rain falls across eastern areas by dawn. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Saturday:
Rain continuing across the region, slowly clearing eastwards through the morning. Largely dry with sunny spells through the rest of the day, though some showers are likely to develop. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Cloudy with rain on Sunday, and some heavy downpours. Scattered showers on Monday, potentially heavy with a risk of thunder and hail. Drier on Tuesday for most with sunny spells.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.